

The Sophia University Drones Club!<sup>1</sup>

Presents!

The very second (2nd) Drone<sup>2</sup> of the 2018 academic year!

Compleat with authenticy bad spelling!<sup>3 4</sup>

Staring!

Sara Terre Blanche<sup>5</sup> who discuses questions and questionairs for examining authenticness and authenticality in language-teaching and

Hikari Takada<sup>6</sup> who will discuss C.S. Lewis' Till We Have Faces, which, dispite the almost total lack of talking horses, is apparently vvery intersting.

Attendance is priceless, and anyone<sup>7</sup> interested<sup>8</sup> is encouraged to take it attend. Please make note that nobody attending the talks will be asked to do anything embaressing<sup>9</sup>.

AND!!!

By special request, we will have lots of questions and answers and things like that to really put the speakers on the proverbial plot. Lot's of fun for all the family!<sup>10</sup>

Time: 5:15pm Thursday 31st May

Place: 6:403

<sup>2</sup> 'Drone'. Verb. Meaning a geneticaly haploid male bee with no stinger. Sometimes pretends the stinging to scare off beekeepers.

<sup>3</sup> Also, idiosyncratic idioms and galumphing grammar!

<sup>4</sup> Due to apathy and general lack of interest, Punctuation will be restricted to more or less normal quantities for the duration of this flyer

<sup>7</sup> Staff, postgrads, graduates, people from outside who have nothing better to do, friends of the speakers, small trees, interstingly shaped pebbles, you.

<sup>8</sup> Even if you are not interested, please feel free to come along, sit at the back and check your facebook/twitter etc stuffs, pretend to be intersting, and hope (fruitlessly) for free drinks and snacks.

<sup>9</sup> Even if you ask really nicely or offer us money.

<sup>10</sup> If you plan to bring your awful brood malignant spawn children, please ask them not to be precociously clever, cute, and/or show up the rest of us.
