

Announcing the first ever post inaugural meeting of the Sophia University Drones Club¹

The Drones Club^{2 3 4} is an informal meeting of Staff and Postgraduate students⁵ intended as a platform for the sharing of research and study interests. No sign up required. If you are interested, then please come.⁶

For this next meeting Richard Pinner of the English Literature Department^{7 8} will talk to us about Augmented Communication,^{9 10} and the ways that modern technology¹¹ is infiltrating, or diversifying (depending upon your point of view), everyday interactions.^{12 13} Richard has just written a book about this and ~~probably~~ knows quite a lot about it, so his talk is a definite must for people interested in whatever it is.¹⁴

Time: 5:15pm Thursday 14th December
Place: 2:404

¹ Named after the London Club immortalised in the novels of P.G. Wodehouse.

² Where last time ~~quite a lot of dull and tedious droning took place~~ we all enjoyed a jolly interesting talk about something very interesting.

³ But this time, we will not be droned at by stupid, ~~upper~~ middle-class, work-shy males.

⁴ Though obviously, stupid, various-class, work-shy people of any gender ~~did~~ may have attended.

⁵ If you want to ask someone from outside the university, please do.

⁶ Even if you are not interested, please feel free to come and ~~heckle~~ encourage the speaker.

⁷ And well-known creator of the Granola Lunch and the Dodgy Yoghurt Surprise.

⁸ And for writing a book on Augmented Communication.

⁹ If you don't know what that is, you really should come to the presentation.

¹⁰ Please do not look at the picture and assume that this involves weapons or other forms of violent coercion.

¹¹ Such as telephones, tablets, er, telephones and of course the ubiquitous smartphone.

¹² He has been strongly encouraged not to show any photos of his son, wife, dog, breakfast or lunch (see note 7).

¹³ Or videos.

¹⁴ But see note number 5 & 9.
